

CO/C 49,174

ABSTRACT

A device that automatically compensates for heat-induced sag in a suspended line by using a shape memory alloy actuator. As the actuator is heated, it contracts, producing a pulling force in the line, and thereby reducing sag.